

credit card processing & merchant accounts

Accepting credit cards is a vital part of a modern business.

Credit card fees are the bane of a modern business.

Fight back and become more efficient - upgrade to a service that fights for your business to lower fees associated with credit card transactions.

Evolving Office has partnered with multiple merchant service providers enabling us to provide solutions with no, or low, monthly fees and transaction rates.

Do you know how much Visa and MasterCard charges merchant service providers? We do! We've done the research - let us show you the numbers.

What types of companies can we service?

- ✓ Large businesses wishing to decrease transaction fees and increase overall profits
- ✓ Medium-sized businesses wishing to decrease monthly fees as well as transaction fees that eat up profits on small purchases
- ✓ Small, new or established businesses that do not know who to turn to

Why businesses should not get merchant services through a bank:

Most banks, credit unions and other financial institutions simply sell your accounts to a separate merchant service provider and tack on fees. You pay more per month, more per transaction and you get less in your pocket. Evolving Office is different. Our research makes it easy to determine which solution is best for you, ensuring you get more profit on every sale.

What can Evolving Office do for you?

Can I keep my equipment?	Can I take online payments?	I don't know what to ask!	HELP! I'm stuck in a mean and nasty contract!
In most cases, yes. You may be able to keep equipment you've already invested in.	Yes! Many of our solutions also integrate with Authorize.net & other payment gateways – decreasing costs for web integrations.	Not a problem! Contact us for a free phone discussion; we can help you define your needs.	We hate those long-term, restrictive contracts; providers are worried you might discover a better way. Sometimes, our prices are so much lower you may recover losses due to any early contract cancellation fees within a couple of months!

What's the fine print?

Brick & Mortar

No fine print. Evolving Office is a solution provider and we will put you in touch with the right merchant services solution for your needs. Of course we cannot do that (and you cannot start saving money) until you call us. So please, call today!

We know there's a better way for you to do business – let us share it with you.
We can offer high-value services that fit any budget.

Call, email or tweet us to start the conversation.
